

Island of the DEAD

They say the outbreaks were nature's way of fighting back, the world had to change in 2019 due to the covid pandemic, many people died during this time and no one knew what the future would hold.

In 2022 there was another threat, this was an outbreak of a different kind, a virus, was this the apocalypse predicted by scientists, did this happen due to what we have done to the planet. They say the outbreak was man made, but no one really knows.

When the outbreak started governments acted quickly and scientists were taken to safe havens dotted all round the country so they could work on a cure, these were guarded by military forces trying to keep them safe from the growing numbers of the dead killing the living.

The rest of us only had one choice -
DO ANYTHING TO SURVIVE...

The dead were hungry to feed on the damned and they were ravenous for human flesh, with their inhuman speed and strength little hope lies for anyone still alive. The virus is now air born so death is inevitable for everyone, many scientists tried to make a cure but so far none succeeded.

Drakes Island was the last known place where a cure was made but we have lost all communication with them and now we are losing hope.

You and your team's mission will be to go to Drakes Island where you will step into a theatrical immersed Zombie experience which will test you in every way, fear being the biggest test.

When you reach the Island your mission will be to seek out any living survivors and to find clues for unlocking the island's secret which could possibly lead you to unravelling the cure that the island's scientists tried to create.

On your journey into the unknown you will encounter many different challenges to test your physical strengths and mental ability. You will need to use stealth and cunning to gather all the information required to survive and possibly find a cure.

Many aspects will come into this survival including the ability to kill the undead when needed, knowing when to hide to avoid being eaten and when to sacrifice a team member to save the greater good.

Only you and your team can find the cure. You are now what stands between the dead and keeping the living alive.

Do you have what it takes?
